Column Volume 138 Stress and Nutri Calm to the Rescue

This article is an edited re-print from January of 2013. Here is the reason behind the re-print. STRESS HAS BEEN RAMPANT. And, sometimes, even if you own a really nice Natural Healing Store, one “forgets” that the answer is right around the corner. We have a wonderful product called Nutri-Calm right here on the second shelf. Here are the details:

Whatever the cause of the stress; financial, work, family, energy vampires, your body creates an immune response in return. I have previously written three articles regarding stress and body fat. If you would like to archive these articles, you can call the Flash for back copies or you can go to www.naturalhealingexpress.com , click on the newsletters icon and you will find all of our articles there under appropriate titles. So, in that regard, if you are primarily interested in the effect of stress and its relation to belly fat, take a gander at articles 33-35.

However, stress also has many, many more negative reactions in the body which can vary from anxiety attacks to adrenal failure and from migraine to muscle tension. So, what can we do? Numero Uno, attempt to find a way to relax at least an hour daily. Taking time for yourself to reason and meditate on your issues can do wonders. If you are constantly under the gun, it’s only a matter of time under the gerbil falls off the wheel.

At Natural Healing Express we offer a fantastic product called Nutri Calm. This tablet is primarily a nutritional product that aids in assisting the energy and body chemistry elicited in the fight or flight response. How it works in the body is very, very different then anti-depressants.

Nutri Calm basically provides the chemical nutrition needed to adequately respond to the fight or flight response brought on by stress. When you demand energy, Nutri calm responds. The result is a calming affect on the body, not a sleepy effect, but a “calm, I can handle this effect”, therefore preventing further negative physical effects on the body. Nutri Calm to the rescue.

Nutri Calm consists of Vitamin C (ascorbic acid) Thiamin, Riboflavin, Niacin, Vitamin B6, Folic Acid, Vitamin B12, Biotin and Panthothenic Acid.

For those of you who struggle with daily stress, I cannot recommend this product enough to help you get through this issue in a natural, healthy way using a nutritionally based product. We have plenty of samples available if you would like to try before you buy.

Also, we are busy putting together our summer seminar, class and workshop schedules. I would really love to hear from you regarding topics that may interest you. This class helps those who would like to have assistance in bringing their weight into normal range. As part of this class, we provide weekly samples from the Eat Clean Diet as adapted into Clean Cuisine for our area. Please email if you have interest, this class fills up very quickly.

We have already decided to hold an Essential Oils workshop which will probably be on a Saturday. This class will teach the basics of the usefulness of Essential Oils. We have also discussed doing a seminar on Women’s Health discussing the rampant Estrogen Dominance issue and also a Learn your Brain Type workshop.
